The Book of the Names of the Dead

Please take a moment before or after Mass to remember your loved ones by writing their names in our Book of Remembrance, located in the front of Church. It will be out November 1.

Being at peace with yourself is a direct result of finding peace with God.

We have been blessed with the gift of longevity and that gift is challenging us to rethink and redesign the places we live in and the relationships that sustain us as we age up. Our own convent here at St. Florian is fast becoming an opportunity for innovative housing and supportive networks to navigate the road ahead. It is fun and exciting to be part of this new community and what it means for the parish as well as ourselves. Sign up to learn more about it, or go to the website at:

www.reopeningdoors.com.

For information call (312) 415-3503.

Don't forget to put your e-mail address on your envelope.

You only need to do this once. If you have already submitted your email address, you do not need to do it again.

ST. FLORIAN CHURCH is now on Facebook.

Information and events will be posted on the Florian Hegewisch user page.

If you are new to the parish, stop in the rectory to register.

Know the Difference

Halloween, Oct. 31

A traditional secular celebration dating back to pre-Christian Celtic autumn observances, customs and superstitions. Brought to the United States in the 19th century by Irish immigrants, its name is derived from the day on which it is celebrated, All Hallows Eve, the vigil to All Saint's Day.

All Saints' Day, Nov. 1

A holy day of obligation, commemorating all the blessed in heaven. In the fourth century, groups of martyrs, and later other saints, were honored on a common day in various places. In 609 or 610, the Pantheon, a pagan temple in Rome that is still standing, was consecrated as a Christian church in honor of Mary and the martyrs and, later all the saints. In 835, Pope Gregory IV fixed Nov. 1 at the date of the observance.

All Souls' Day, Nov. 2

The annual commemoration of all the faithful departed. The dead were prayed for from the earliest days of the Church. By the sixth century, Benedictine monasteries customarily held commemorations for departed members of Pentecost. In 998, St. Odilio of the Abbey of Cluny fixed the day after All Saints Day as the common commemoration of all the faithful departed. It was approved and recommended by Pope Sylvester II five years later and gradually spread throughout the Christian world, with associated custom and pious traditions.
